

Andrea Cannon
Journalism 199
Professor Meyer
9-14-17

Daily Illini Marijuana Article

Student senator wants the university to consider revising previous policy to make medical marijuana legal in resident halls.

The program since 2013 regarding the use of medical marijuana gave permission to patients with a qualifying condition to apply for an ID.

The university still restricts students availability to medical marijuana while on campus.

Medical marijuana is still illegal according to the federal government so public universities are nervous to make it legal on their campuses because it might affect funding.