Allowing Medical Marijuana on Campus

“I need it to function,” said Jake Block, a senior in Media.

Student Senator, Tara Chatteraj introduced a resolution supporting medical marijuana in University Housing. The resolution would urge the University to allow for the possession and use of non-smoking marijuana products on campus.

Even with a prescription, students living on campus have few options when it comes to their medical marijuana.

The University fears losing federal funding, if they allowed it. Associate Chancellor of Public Affairs, Robin Kaler, said she doesn't see a policy change coming soon.
