

An arrest had been officially made for a male teacher who had sexual relations with two of his students. Chris Young has been charged with eight sex-related offences that involved his two 16 year old students. Young had inappropriate photos of both girls, and engaged in sexually explicit conduct. While being investigated officials asked to see Youngs phone, he refused to give them his password. However one of the girls gave their phone to the officials, where they found many pictures and text messages from Young. The two girls had spent many nights in Young's trailer apartment together, and separately. One of the girls claimed to have a threesome with Young and the other student. Young would also give them rides to school when they spent the night. One student had a bad homelife and turned to the teacher Chris Young, who she claimed to be her boyfriend. Young also ended up giving this young girl a promise ring. The same girl had bragged about having sex with Young to one of her friends. Officials had one victim go to a Sexual Assault Nurse examiner. The results confirmed that both students have had penetrative and oral sex with Chris Young. The amount of jail time Chris Young faces is unknown at this time.
