

45-year old teacher accused of having improper sexual relationships with two underage students. Christopher Young a Peabody High School social studies teacher stands charged with eight felony charges related to sexual allegations.

In the affidavit released the by the court there are numerous times when Young has had spent multiple nights with both students engaging in intercourse during those times. The two students have both exchanged nude photographs with Young.

On one specific occasion both students and Young engaged in a threesome, smoked weed all night, and then all three the next morning went to school in Young's car. Inside the school multiple teachers saw Young and one of the students in Youngs classroom alone behind locked doors on several different occasions.

In a Police conducted interview one of the students admitted to having penetrative and oral sex and that the allegations were true, and they had been engaging in these activities for a few months and went as far to say that Young gave her a promise ring for Christmas ensuring their future together.

The police confiscated both Young and one of the student's phone and found multiple exchanges of Young's genitalia and the students' breasts.

In a bizarre twist one of the parents of the victims said that Chris Young should not spend twenty years in jail thinking it to be excessive. He states Young should lose his job, marriage, and serve a limited time but that he does not want his father to feel guilty of sending Young to prison.
