Story Memo:

Possible Lede: Differences in Sororities on Campus

I have interviewed two girls from different sororities. They both offered valuable information that can be used in my story. Now, I have to find sources from members of Black sororities and other demographics. My first interviewee was Marga Hempel of Alpha Gamma Delta and she gave me insight on the rush process and talked about the notion of no talking about “booze, boys, and bank account” during rush. Molly Rudnick of Sigma Delta Tau said she joined her sorority because it is predominantly Jewish and she wanted to be around like-people.

Possible Sources:

Briana Banks - Delta Sigma Theta President
Members of Alpha Kappa Alphas
